Parent/Teacher Consultations

The HEADLINE

We have been very busy at school planning some fantastic events for the children to be involved in over this term and into the Summer Term. We are participating in Day for Change next Friday, and supporting UNICEF in their work to make the lives of children better around the world. The same day will also be a Rainbow Day and we are looking forward to the children coming to school in their brightest coloured clothes!

Another change, for this term and next, is the Parent/Teacher Consultations, and the details about that are on our website.

Also, over this term and next, the children will be participating in the East Feast Project, and working with professional artists and craftspeople, to create lovely products for the garden. These products will then go on sale at our Spring Fayre and we look forward to telling you more about that in the near future.

Our stars this cycle!

F2: Niall for imaginative and detailed creations using building blocks, multi-link and other mathematical equipment and Thomas for always considering his friends and teachers and being helpful.

KIDS circle

Answer from last cycle...

The two defendants were Siamese Twins

STRICTLY FOR KIDS

Logically Thinking...

Two American Indians were sitting on a log - a big Indian and a little Indian. The little Indian was the son of the big Indian, but the big Indian was not the father of the little Indian.

How do you explain that?

Recommended Reading...

Jack in Y5 recommends...

'Mr Gum and the Goblins' by Andy Stanton. "This book is super funny and has unexpected story lines. Alan Taylor, Polly and Friday O'Leary have to stop Mr Gum and Billy William the Third from evil doings. It's 'Burping' Epic'!"

& another thing...

Most people know that Napoleon Bonaparte was a very successful French military general and a lot of people know he had a wife called Josephine, but did you know that wasn't her real name? Her real name was Rose, but Napoleon didn't like that name so he called her Josephine. Also, although people think he was very short, he wasn't. He was about 1m 70cm (which was the average height for men at the time). The reason people think of him as short is that the British Newspapers of the time created cartoons of him as a short man to mock him.

If you would like to recommend a book or share a little known fact with your school mates, you can e-mail your recommendation or fact to comms@woodbridgeprimary.suffolk.sch.uk Don't forget to include your first name and what class you are in (and remember to ask Mum or Dad before you use the computer!)

Glorious Cakes!

Y5 Cake Sale raised a fantastic £71.30p towards their African Adventure. Thank you to everyone who made, bought and ate the cakes!

Day for Change

Friday 8th February is UNICEF's Day for Change, an annual fundraiser in support of children around the world who are denied basic human rights. UNICEF's focus this year is on food and we will be hosting a BIG breakfast for the whole school to encourage our children to eat a healthy and nutritious breakfast each morning.

Alongside Big Breakfast it will also be a Rainbow Day. We invite all our children to come to school dressed in colours from the rainbow and ask that they bring in a £1 donation, which we will send to UNICEF.

Assistance from parent volunteers for the Big Breakfast would be greatly appreciated.
